Wood mattresses are also used by a few people, but I have never found them popular with any except persons from the northwestern part of our country and Canada. Whenever I see a wood mattress I am sure the owner sleeps with the windows shut tight.

So far as I can judge there is room in the field for other women. I know of several who are making a good living by it. They started in riter I began and have their own particular methods. In most small cities there are establishments where such work is done imperfectly by machinery. Women going from house to house or taking work to their own home could do the same thing much better and for just as low a cost. I have never averaged my expenses or earnings by the day, but I know that I make emough to pay my help, pay my own living expenses and have something to put in bank for the expected rainy day.
